Vol. 11, No. 22, Nov. 30-Dec. 20, 1985

TODAY & TOMORROW

NOV. 30-DEC. 20, 1985

"At Christmas play and make good cheer for Christmas comes but once a year."

The campus will celebrate the holidays in style this year:

In a special invitation from Chancellor Krevans, Medical Center Director William Kerr and each of the five deans, all staff employees and academic faculty members will be invited to the second campus-wide holiday celebration on Monday, December 16, from 3 to 7 p.m. in the Millberry Union gym and combined lounges.

Well-known Bay Area jazz singer Cookie Wong will perform again this year from 3 to 7 p.m. in the combined lounges. There also will be dancing in the gym to the sounds of a live band.

A hot buffet will be available in the combined lounges and light snacks and beverages in the gym.

Beginning Monday, December 2, Moffitt Gift Shop will wrap all your presents (even those not purchased at the Gift Shop). Prices will vary according to size. For more information call x61845.

Hospitals Auxiliary will hold its annual Gold Sale on Wednesday, December 4, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Medical Sciences lobby.

Millberry Union is sponsoring a Holiday Crafts Faire with handcrafted items and refreshments Tuesday and Thursday, December 10 and 12, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. and Wednesday, December 11, from 10 a.m.-6:30 p.m. in the Millberry Union lounges. Some 25 artisans will be displaying their wares, ranging from wooden toys to children's clothing. The Courtyard Cafe will be selling refreshments during the Crafts Faire and the Millberry Bookstore will have a special sale.

The Royal Lichtenstein Quarter-Ring Sidewalk Circus will perform Wednesday, December 11, at 6:30 p.m. and Thursday, December 12, at noon in the Millberry Union Gym. The circus includes unicycling, clowns, magic and juggling. Tickets are $2.50 for children, $3.50 for students and Millberry members, $4.50 general.

Carolers from various neighborhood groups will grace the halls of the Medical Center both days and evenings beginning Saturday, December 14. Anyone interested in caroling, donating gifts or volunteering to help with patient care during the holiday season should call Volunteer Services at x61196. The Retired Senior Volunteers are making Christmas stockings in which mothers who deliver on Christmas Day can carry their newborns home.

On Wednesday, December 18, children from the UCSF Child Care/Study Center will go caroling along Parnassus Avenue, stopping in campus lobbies and entertaining employees in several surprise locations.

Volunteer Services' second annual pediatric Christmas party will be held Tuesday, December 17, and will feature music, gifts, refreshments, a magician, mime, clown and storyteller Lee Braisington. Donations for the party come from Hospitals Auxiliary and SF State art students. The following day the Children's Medical Center is sponsoring a party for volunteers.

The campus continues its participation through Wednesday, December 18, in the San Francisco Fire Fighters 35th Annual Toy Drive for San Francisco needy children. Anyone who has new or slightly-used toys for children up to age 13 can deposit them in toy barrels in the lobbies of the Ambulatory Care Center, Medical Sciences, Moffitt, UC Hospital building, School of Dentistry, as well as Moffitt Cafeteria's Golden Gate Room, the Personnel Office, third and fifth floors of CED, and Oyster Point. Stocking stuffers also are needed for the

MOBILE MAMMOGRAPHY SCREENING SCHEDULE

Women now can have low-cost mammograms—x-rays to screen for breast cancer—from a mobile van that travels to convenient shopping or downtown locations in San Francisco and remains for a week at a time.

Women need the approval of their physicians to have the mammogram. The procedure takes approximately 20 minutes and costs only $30. To make an appointment call 990-0459 between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

The van will be at the following locations for the next three weeks:

Dec. 2-6: Sansome across from the CitiCorp Bldg., near Market & Bush.

Dec. 9-13: Irving St. between 25th & 26th Ave.

Dec. 16-20: Marina Blvd. between Buchanan & Webster, near Fort Mason.

Also televised on the same stations will be nightly Hanukkah candlelighting ceremonies from December 7 to 14 at 5:15 p.m.

Moffitt Cafeteria will have a special holiday lunch and dinner for staff, patients and friends of the campus on Christmas and New Year's Day. The Christmas lunch menu will include broiled salmon, rice pilaf and salad; dinner will be roast lamb, baked potato and asparagus. Christmas desserts will be fruit cake and Christmas cookies. The New Year's fare will include for lunch, baked ham, sweet potatoes and broccoli; dinner, roast beef au jus, paprika potatoes and green beans. New Year's desserts will include cheesecake and pumpkin pie.

Official campus holidays for Christmas and New Year's are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 23, 24 and 25, and Wednesday, January 1. The campus will be open Thursday, Friday, Monday and Tuesday, December 26, 27, 30 and 31. Chancellor Krevans is allowing newly appointed employees in departments which will be closed to use vacation leave prior to completion of six months' service, and other employees may use vacation leave prior to the time it is accrued, if necessary. Those employees regularly paid on the first of the month will receive their checks on Thursday, January 2.

The UCSF Nursing Alumni Association is accepting nominations for its third Distinguished Alumni Award to be given on Nursing Alumni Day, April 26, 1986.

Nominees must have made significant contributions to the nursing profession in clinical practice, teaching, administration, education and/or research, writing, health care organizational work or innovation in health care delivery systems.

Application forms are available in the Office of Alumni Affairs, 745 Parnassus Ave. or by calling x64723. Application deadline is Monday, December 2.

Howard Liddle, EdD, and George Saba, PhD, have received a $360,000, two-year grant from the National Institute of Drug Abuse to study adolescent substance abuse and the effect of family therapy. Liddle, director, behavioral science program, SFGH, and lecturer, family and community medicine, is the project director and Saba, lecturer, family and community medicine and family practice residency program, SFGH, is the associate director.

The project staff needs referrals in the following areas:

- Adolescents ages 13 through 19 with or without a substance abuse problem.
- Potential agencies for project participation.
- Therapists to provide treatments.

For further information call Liddle or Saba at 821-8610 or x62645.

Applications are being accepted for the Syntex Scholars Program, designed to enhance the research capabilities of scientists who have demonstrated outstanding research potential in the cardiovascular field. Each award will be for up to $50,000 a year for three years.

Application deadline is February 3, 1986. For further information call Bill Wilson, x62218.

Are you receiving your periodicals late? The UCSF Mailing Division would like to help. They will work with the postal service and the appropriate publisher to alleviate the problem. If you are having problems send a memo to the Mailing Division, Box 0980.

The Center for Adolescent Obesity, a national educational organization for health professionals engaged in adolescent obesity research, service or training is now affiliated with the UCSF Division of Family & Community Medicine.

Directed by Laurel Mellin, assistant clinical professor of medicine and pediatrics, the Center provides lectures, continuing education courses, newsletters, literature updates and facilitates research. It is supported in part by the Division's John Tung/American Cancer Society Clinical Nutrition Education Center.

Several UCSF faculty members are among the board of advisors including: Marion Nestle, PhD, director, Clinical Nutrition Center and associate professor, family and community medicine; Charles E. Irwin, Jr., MD associate professor, pediatrics and director, Division of Adolescent Medicine; Marna Cohen, social worker and assistant clinical professor, pediatrics. Advisors are Donald Fink, MD; David Werdegar, MD; Diana Petitti, MD, and William Shore, MD. Nutritionists Kathryn McHenry and Lucy Adams are associate directors. For more information call Laurel Mellin, x61482.

Works of artist Stewart B. Gross, MD, MPH, and photographer Della Rossa will be on display at the Faculty/Alumni House from December 2 to February 28, with a reception on Friday, December 6, at 4:30 p.m.

Gross, who has been painting for some 35 years, was a pediatrician for 10 years and a public health administrator for 20 years. He retired in 1979 after directing the Alameda County Health Care Agency. He has been exhibiting his paintings since 1947, most recently this year at the SF Museum of Modern Art rental gallery.

Rossa was one of 107 photographers from all over the world whose photographs appeared in 24 Hours in the Life of Los Angeles (Alfred Van Der Marck Editions, Harper & Row, NY, 1984). Her UCSF exhibit will include color photographs entitled "Mysteries of Death Valley."

For further information call x64723.

Applications for UC cancer funds for the 1986-87 year are due in the Cancer Research Coordinating Committee Office at UC-Berkeley by January 31.

The funds provide small grants for new faculty and established investigators to initiate cancer research projects, and for investigators with established cancer research programs to expand their studies by adding a postdoctoral associate to their group.

Academic Senate members are eligible; assistant professors beginning their research programs at UC are especially encouraged to apply. Applications also will be accepted from those individuals in the clinical and adjunct professor series and professional research series.

For further information contact the Contracts and Grants Office, 145 Irving St., x62977.

Health policy researchers at UCSF report in a new study that the real culprits behind rising hospital costs may be surgery and intensive care for critically ill patients, not the use of "high-tech" laboratory services or imaging techniques—as popularly believed.

Writing in the November 7 issue of The New England Journal of Medicine, the UCSF team notes that hospital care expenditures have almost quadrupled over the past decade (from $34.9 billion in 1972 to $135.5 billion in 1982), and health economists usually lay the blame on general inflation, population growth, and increased use of medical technology.

The study's goal was to determine if the medical technology explosion really is at fault, because if this is true, policies concerning the use of these services might be implemented across the board for all patients as a way to control costs, explained Jonathan A. Showstack, MPH, assistant professor of health policy and study principal investigator.

Co-investigators of the study, titled "The Role of Changing Clinical Practices in the Rising Costs of Hospital Care," are Mary Hughes Stone, MA, health policy research associate, and Steven A. Schroeder, MD, professor of medicine and chief of the Division of General Internal Medicine.

A UCSF conference for employers, union leaders, rehabilitation counselors and older employees will discuss hearing-impaired older workers and ways to keep them in the workforce, Wednesday, December 11, 8:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. at Pacific Bell, 370 Third Street, Hall C, in San Francisco. The conference is sponsored by the UCSF Center on Deafness.

Between 40 and 60 percent of middle aged and older persons have hearing loss severe enough to interfere with their communication in a noisy environment. Many in the workforce, as young as their early thirties, already have lost some hearing, but often neither employee nor employer is prepared to deal with the problem.

The one-day conference will include lectures, workshops and demonstrations to discuss characteristics of hearing loss with aging, how those with hearing loss tend to respond to the problem, effective strategies for coping with hearing loss in the workplace, hearing aids and recently developed listening devices, noise and other factors having deleterious effects on hearing.

Speakers will include Laurel Glass, MD, PhD, director of the UCSF Center on Deafness; William Cutler, president, Self-Help for the Hard of Hearing, Palo Alto; John Darby, director, Hearing Society for the Bay Area; and Richard Flower, PhD, UCSF professor and vice-chair, otolaryngology. Speakers representing corporations, labor and rehabilitation services also will be present.

For more information call 731-9150 or 731-7123 (TDD).

M. Lawrence Montgomery, '24 School of Medicine. A member of the teaching staff from 1931-39, his specialty was peripheral vascular surgery.

"The Hospitalized Adolescent," a TV program produced at UCSF by David Watts Productions, has received the Silver Award for Network Television Programming, from the National Mental Health Association. Earlier this year the program received the "Best of the West" award from the Association of Western Hospitals.

Watts, associate clinical professor, medicine, hosts "The Hospitalized Adolescent," which looks at the unique characteristics of teenagers and how their needs often pose problems for hospital staff.

Watts also produced two continuing education programs at UCSF for Hospital Satellite Network. "The Diagnosis and Treatment of Crohn's Disease" looks at current methods of treatment and management of this prevalent disorder and includes interviews with UCSF's Alexander Margulis, chief of radiology; John Carbone, professor of medicine; and Herbert Peterson, associate clinical professor of psychiatry.

"Cost Containment" was filmed in Toland Hall and centers around a discussion of the pros and cons of this issue. UCSF participants included Stephen Cohen, professor of medicine and director of clinical laboratories; Steven Schroeder, professor of medicine and chief of the Division of General Internal Medicine; and John Carbone.
